

Relocating to DFW

Why This Guide?

Relocating for a career can create a lot of stress and we want to help you make the process as smooth as possible. We created this guide to help our applicants with understanding the North Texas area as well as our UNT community prior to moving. From potential cities to live in and cost of living, to how to find housing and available grocery stores, this guide contains useful information to help make moving to DFW less daunting and more exciting!

If you have any questions or concerns, please reach out to the Sr. Library Administrative Services Coordinator at Monique.Sheppard@unt.edu, or the Director of Library Administrative Services at Shaureece.Park@unt.edu.

Understanding Dallas-Fort Worth

Resources

Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide

One of the best resources for relocating to the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex. For your convenience, we've linked to the specific pages of the guide in relevant sections of this document.

Includes comprehensive information about cities and towns in the area with demographic information, county and community information, housing, public transportation options and information for car owners, explanation of common roads and Toll Tags, school districts and schooling options, senior care and living, parks, culture, and more.

Say Yes to Dallas

A companion website to the Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide.

Discover Denton

A city visitor website with information about Denton including transportation options, things to do, and upcoming events.

Destination Denton Area Guide

Area guide for Denton with information about housing, education, and more.

Visit Fort Worth

A visual guide from the City of Fort Worth with a map of the various neighborhoods and districts and a list of their highlights, arts and cultural offerings, and attractions. Also, includes a list of yearly events in the city.

Discover Fort Worth

Presented by Visit Fort Worth with information about what makes Fort Worth unique place to live or visit.

The Metroplex

Dallas-Fort Worth, or DFW, is a metroplex filled with numerous cities, towns, and municipalities. The metroplex is officially designated by the government as the Dallas-Fort Worth-Arlington MSA. Some may refer to the whole metroplex as Dallas, some may refer to us as Fort Worth, and some often use DFW or North Texas.

To help you make sense of it all, we recommend pp. 30-89 of the Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide, which offers helpful insight into each of the areas that make up this unique metroplex, starting with Dallas and expanding to our other cities and communities. Visit pp 139-149 to learn more about the various communities in the metroplex to help you thrive and connect.

Many UNT employees live in Denton; however, a large number live outside of Denton. We recommend pp. 78-83 of the guide for a list of cities and towns close to Denton campus and Denton County, along with the demographic and average cost information for those locations. We've also included a list of commutable cities and towns below to help you with your choice of where to live.

Commutable Cities and Municipalities

To help you make an informed decision about where to live in DFW, we've curated a list of cities and municipalities within commutable distance of the UNT Denton campus and arranged them by distance. We've also included links to city visitor and information guides where available to further assist your search.

Please note that these are the most prominent cities and municipalities when viewing a map of DFW, and this does not account for smaller communities and towns within each city or those that may be surrounding the locations listed. Population counts are approximate.

Please consult the Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide or the DFW Metroplex Map for more information.

Getting Here

Airports

DFW International (DFW) is our main airport and the 4th busiest airport in the US. Dallas Love Field (DAL) is a smaller, regional airport and hub for Southwest Flights.

For more information about airports, destinations, and non-stop flight times, visit pp. 176-177 of the Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide.

Commute & Public Transportation Information

Pages 166-177 of the Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide provide in-depth information about highway names and their aliases, travel time for commuters, public transportation options, Toll Tags, and highways and construction projects.

If you're new to Texas, visit TxDMV's New to Texas resource guide for information on how to obtain a new driver's license, registration, and everything you need. For additional reference, page 182 provides state laws regarding vehicle insurance, inspection, and registration.

Pro Tip! Your UNT ID gives you free access to the DCTA buses.

Cost of Living and Housing

Use the Cost of Living Index Calculator to help determine the cost difference between your current location and DFW.

Visit pp. 91-99 of the Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide for information about senior living, new construction options, renting, and communities.

You may also find Zillow and Apartments.com useful while researching housing options in the metroplex.

Ready to move? Check out pp. 178-179 for a moving checklist with 24 things to do in your first 30 days in DFW.

Did you know...? Texas does not have state or local income tax. Visit pp. 180-181 for more information about taxes.

Resources for Parents

Early Childhood

- Complete Care
UNT offers free Complete Care to faculty, staff, and students. Complete Care pairs UrbanSitter's childcare, pet care, senior care, and household services with Kinside's marketplace of daycares and preschools to bring you the very best coverage for all your needs. No matter the scenario, find the care that fits your budget, schedule, location, and preferences.
- Texas Child Care and Early Learning Services
- DFWChild Magazine's list of the Best Preschools in the Metroplex

K-12

A comprehensive guide to North Texas school districts, charter schools, private schools, virtual learning, Montessori, and higher education options is available on pp. 152-163 of the Dallas Newcomer + Relocation Guide. There's also an explanation of the Foundation High School Program requirements which prepare students for industry certifications and higher education.
